
NEWSLETTER COST ACTION 24164 - SENSING EUROPE'S COURT SPACES AT THE CROSSROADS OF PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

UNLOCK NEW OPPORTUNITIES WITH SENSES GRANTS!

The SENSES COST Action CA24164 is excited to encourage young researchers and early-career scholars to make the most of the funding opportunities available through the network.

Whether you want to build collaborations, expand your research horizons, join inspiring academic events, or become more involved in the international SENSES community, the Action's grants are designed to help you do exactly that.

WHY APPLY?

SENSES grants are not only about presenting your work — they are also about participation, networking, learning, and becoming part of a vibrant European research community.

You can use these grants to:

- visit another institution and develop collaborations through a Short-Term Scientific Mission (STSM);
- attend conferences, workshops, summer schools, and thematic meetings connected to the Action;
- deepen your expertise in sensory history, court studies, digital humanities, heritage research, and related fields;
- connect with senior scholars and fellow young researchers from across Europe.

Importantly, participation grants can support your attendance at activities even if you are not presenting a paper. If you are motivated to engage, learn, and contribute to the network, these opportunities are for you.

SENSES brings together researchers exploring the multisensory worlds of medieval and early modern court spaces across disciplines including history, art and architectural history, musicology, heritage studies, and digital humanities.
